Cap: 63.

T! o quis validis fortior hostibus
A Bosra intrepidis gressibus advolat?
En! vestes, saturas, cerno, rubedine
Sic rorare croribus;
Ac Si quis, cohibet cum pedibus suis
Mustis, præla, rubris ebria, sangvine,
Uvis elicto, stilat, & humidus
Tota e veste fluit cror.

Sat visum est. Oculis missus ab igneis
Ignoti radius, discutit horridas
Extemplo tenebras, mente nova celer
Heroem video poli.

Heroem video, cedere nescium,
Gentes qui tumidis viribus ebrias
Uno fulmineo contudit impetu;
Qui mox compedibus dedit
Monstrorum sobolem prodigialium,
Ex orco genitam, quæ generosius
Quærens interitum, plus vice simplici
Vires sollicitat poli.

Ilex ut rigidis tonsa bipennibus
A prædante comas cæde superbior
Tectum nubiferum conspicit, & nova
Altis luxuriat comis;

Rectoris Stygij sic furor extulit
Lymphatus, facere & quidlibet impotens,
Post cædes solito cornua fortior
Frangi sæpe dolentia.

Jo

Jo! sed simulac insuperabilis
Heros, Judaico sangvine profluens
Cum monstris Stygijs prælia miscuit,
Fregit cornua Dæmoni.

Hic vestes niveas victa potentia
Respersit, tepido & sangvine polluit,
Nam ceu præla suis sub pedibus dedit
Orcum non miserabilem.
Calcavit vitulos, Tartareos canes,
Tauros indomitos, monstra perhorrida,
Quicquid Nox genuit sideribus malis,
Contritum pedibus gemit.
Jo! sic ter jo! plaudite, plaudite,
Vis regis Stygij concidit, occidit;
Nam contra gladium fulmineum Dei
Robur nil potuit suum.

Turbæ Tartareæ stulta superbia,
Perferre indocilis frena potentia,
Alto deiicitur non sine gaudijs,
Et fines patitur suos.
En! Sol ipse oriens, credite posteri,
Ter præ lætitijs adsilijt polo,
Præsentemque diem mox melioribus,
Spargit luce receñs, comis.
O Sol, perge modo frigora solvere,
E terris gravidis elice gramina,
Et vestes virides indue saltibus,
Longo tempore mortuis.

Ut lætum recubans, qua tilia & salix
Umbram prægelidam consociare amant,
Carmen, ter resonans a nemorum jugis,
Christo laurigero canam.
